THE MURDERED PRIEST.

Most of the priests of the Roman Catholic Church in Denver, Colo., believe that Father Leo Heinrichs, who was murdered by Giuseppe Alio, an Italian anarchist, while giving communion in St. Elizabeth's Church in that city on Sunday last, was a marked man from the time he arrived in town last August, or even before. The dead priest was stationed previously in Paterson, N. J., and it is believed that he may have incurred the enmity of the anarchists there, and that a plot was laid to kill him, perhaps prior to his leaving Paterson, but that the machinery of the "Reds" failed to get into working order until Alio carried out orders.

That Father Leo lived a life of severe austerity is evidenced by a discovery made in preparing the body for burial. Next to the skin Father Leo had wrapped about his waist and upper arms heavy bands of linked steel chains, and to each link was a hook, sharpened to a needle's point, attached in such fashion that each movement of the priest caused the hooks to pierce his flesh and to remind him of the life and death of Him in whose steps he struggled to follow.

Father Leo never spoke to his fellow-clergy of his mode of penance, and no one in the monastery surmised it. His body and upper arms were calloused entirely, showing that when the pain became deadened because of the toughened skin he had taken the network of claws and adjusted them so that the pain might come again with renewed force.

Skin Disease of Twenty Years' Standing Cured.

I want you to know how much Chamberlain's Salve has done for me. It has cured my face of a skin disease of almost twenty year's standing. I have been treated by several as smart physicians as we have in this country and they did me no good, but two boxes of this salve has cured me.—Mrs. Fannie Griffen, Troy, Ala. Chamberlain's Salve is for sale by. W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

STORIES OF CANNIBALISM.

Rev. Father E. X. Lichtenberg, for eight years a missionary among the savages of Nigeria, central Africa, and who is visiting friends in St. Louis, related tales of cannibalism and savagery which many perhaps would not credit were it not for photographic evidence, together with the priest's high character.

That he has been able to return to civilization to relate his experiences the priest attributes to Providence. He said that four of the band that accompanied him from Paris became food for the savages. Father Lichtenberg saw feasts on human beings with his own eyes. Men and women, he said, were fattened before being killed and eaten.

Women captured from other tribes were marched from hut to hut and various portions of their bodies were marked off with colored clay, and these "choice bits" were sent to the purchasers after the victim had been slaughtered.

"Old men and women," said Father Lichtenberg, "are softened for the feast just as we might treat celery. When the supply of girls gave out, they placed the old men in a river or in some kind of water up to their necks and kept them there for two or three days, all the time feeding them liberally. The idea was to fatten and at the same time soften them."

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts upon the bowels and thereby drives the cold out of the system. It contains no opiates—it is pleasant to take and is highly recommended for children. Sold by W. F. Creighton.

Czar Holds Reception.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 26.—Czar Nicholas and his consort received 260 members of the Douma at Traskoe-Zelo today. The invitation was general, but the constitutional democrats, radicals and Poles preferred, for political reasons, not to go. The Czar himself arranged the reception, having expressed a wish for some time to meet the national lawmakers personally. He was exceedingly gracious to his visitors, many of whom seemed fairly overcome by the honor done them by royalty. With those, not too much confused to talk at all, his majesty held an animated conversation. Political matters, however, were not touched on. The Czarina, though present at the audience, looked exceedingly weak and ill and plainly showed she was relieved when it was all over.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 27, 1908.

AN item in the Gazette a few days ago told of a boy being found in the street at a late hour at night helplessly drunk and on the verge of freezing to death. This should prove a sufficient warning to precocious youths. It seems, however, that boys drink whisky in other places as well as in Alexandria. While lying on the floor of a little building used by a number of boys as a loafing shanty in Danville, Pa., John Mowrer, 17 years old, died Monday night. The dead boy had been in the habit of associating with a number of boys who congregated in the building. Five of the boys went to this place Monday afternoon and began playing cards and drinking whisky. They had consumed about two quarts when young Mowrer became unconscious. The other boys laid him on the floor, believing his condition to be the natural result of the liquor. When they returned from supper they found Mowrer to be breathing very faintly. Becoming alarmed, they sent for a doctor, but when the physician arrived Mowrer was already dead.

THE Macedonian difficulty is causing Englishmen apprehension. The matter was discussed in both Houses of Parliament last night. It was shown that because of the Porte's obduracy matters had reached a critical stage and that the government deprecated any isolated action, but was doing its utmost to preserve the concert of powers and press Turkey to an acceptance of the reforms. Sir Edward Grey said that in discussing the Macedonian question the government was not far from the Turkish question, which more than once had led to a European war. They were rapidly nearing a point, he said, where the concert of powers must either justify or stultify itself, and if the concert disappeared it was impossible to fortell what understandings might arise. If Macedonia continued to be neglected, he added, as a note of warning, it must sooner or later provoke a catastrophe. The Turk invariably gives in at the proper time, and the anxiety referred to above is probably groundless.

THAT CHICAGO may have a murder within a month similar to the Denver assassination in which Father Leo Heinrick's was shot down while administering the sacrament, is the prediction of Chancellor E. M. Dunne, of the Chicago archdiocese. He said if he himself was not chosen to be murdered, the other possibilities would be either Archbishop Quigley, the Very Rev. F. S. Angell Ucci, of the Church of the Assumption, or the Rev. Father Francis Gordon, C. R. Provincial of the Church of Resurrectionist. Detectives now form a body guard for Father Dunne, and every precaution is taken to protect him from assassins. This is a serious condition of affairs in one of the principal cities of the country, and there is no telling how soon the epidemic for priest-killing may spread to other places.

THE holding up of the price of steel products by the trust checks consumption and real recovery of business, while lower prices would stimulate orders and start idle plants. But the steel trust, highly protected as it is by the tariff, thinks it can worry along until business revives and refuses to reduce the price of its products. Thus every piece of farm machinery, every tool for workingman or farmer, and everything else into which steel enters, has to pay tribute to the trusts. While pig iron has declined 30 per cent from the recent high level, yet steel, which is the chief form of iron now used, is still maintained at the top notch. Such is one of the advantages of the republican policy of tariff protection. That whereas the trust is protected every one else must suffer.

THE State Senate yesterday concurred in the House resolutions amending the constitution to make the sessions of the legislature ninety days instead of sixty. This is most unnecessary, for the members have it in their power to remain in Richmond and finish their legislative business. They should do this any way for when two years ago they voted themselves $500 salaries it was the general understanding that this sum would pay them for any over time that might be required after the sixty days session had ended.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., February 27.

An effort on the part of the railroads to delay enforcement of the nine-hour law which goes into effect on March 1st, through the filing of 40 odd petitions with the Interstate Commerce Commission, forced a hurried hearing of the matter today. According to the law, the Interstate Commerce Commission may extend the time for compliance of the law, for sufficient reason, and the petitions filed purport to present such unforseen conditions. The financial depression of the past few months bulked large in all the testimony. Railroad officials declared that tremendous shrinkage in receipts forced a retrenchment all along the line, and that employment of the large number of additional railway telegraphers made imperative by the terms of the law, would simply mean an increase in rates for traffic, or else death of the railroad. C. H. Ackert, general manager of the Southern Railway, told the financial distress of the Southern. He became involved in a rather sharp colloquy with President Perham of the Order of Railway Telegraphers as to the pay his operators received, their duties, and time of service. He declared that the indebtedness of the Southern amounted to something over $11,000,000, and when asked if he know its bonded indebtedness sadly remarked that he would "have to guess at it." Judging from Chairman Knapp's comment the commission appears to take the position that Congress must make the legislation necessary to delay enforcement of the act, and that authority of the commission is not such as to cover the entire list of stations of railroads. The gauntlet against unionism was thrown down by Mr. Ackert when he complained that railway telegraphers interfered with the employment of capable non-union men and refused to assist in the education of inexperienced men. The contention was made that the employment of a large number of telegraphers inexperienced in actual railway work would work against that protection to travellers which the law designed by putting in responsible positions men who were totally unacquainted with the work.

Another day promises to pass in the House without any action being taken on the Lilley resolution for an investigation of the legislative methods of the Electric Boat Company of New Jersey. The committee on rules has had no meeting since Mr. Lilley made his argument in support of his resolution Tuesday. At that time Lilley asked that he be permitted to revise his argument, as reported by the stenographer before the committee took action. Announcement was made at the room of the committee on rules that Lilley had not revised his argument and for this reason it had not taken action. The rules committee is putting up to Lilley the delay. Lilley handed in a corrected statement this afternoon to the rules committee.

Voting on the Aldrich financial bill in the Senate will begin next Thursday, unless present plans miscarry. Senator Aldrich has been especially busy during the last day or two chatting with members on both the democratic and republican sides of the chamber, with the view of ascertaining the number of speeches that are yet to be made. As a result of his conferences he and the democratic leader, Culberson, are agreed that it will be possible to have the vote taken on March 5th. Aldrich will shortly make public request in the Senate that this date be fixed and that arrangements be made for consideration of the bill by sections and the disposal of amendments. The finance chairman is confident that the bill will be passed. In order to meet some of the objections that have been made, the finance committee will recommend amendments, the most important of which will be a provision requiring that the Secretary of the Treasury shall first satisfy himself of the value of the railroad bonds that may be offered as security for circulation before accepting them, and that all national banks must keep two-thirds of their reserves in their own vaults, one-third being permissible in securities such as are acceptable under the Aldrich bill.

As the result of the situation in Haiti, arising from the demand of the Haitian government for the revolutionary refugees in the foreign consular agencies, and as a precautionary measure, the United States gunboat Paducah has been ordered to Gonaives, and should arrive there today. She left Guantanamo yesterday. The situation in Haiti is now regarded as of special gravity by the Department of State which is disposed to sympathize with the Haitian government against the revolutionists and the principle of the right of asylum claimed by the foreigners implicated in the uprising. It is assumed here that Haiti will give the refugees a fair trial. The attitude of the foreign governments is not expected to involve the United States in any difficulty.

The banking and currency committee of the House announced today that it will vote this afternoon on the Fowler financial bill. Opposition to the measure among some of the republican members of the committee has become so pronounced that it is doubtful if the chairman could secure a report on his bill without aid from the democratic members. The democrats, however, will give him their aid in the hope, that with both the Fowler and Aldrich measures before the House, the fight will be so bitter as to result in no financial legislation this session.

Peter Stohl, 55 years old, janitor of the Homeward Bound Mission, on Pennsylvania ave., committed suicide last night in room 23 of that place by hanging himself.

The action of the Maryland State in failing to indorse Secretary Taft's presidential candidacy, is not inimical to the Secretary of War, according to Attorn y General Bonaparte.

REDUCTION PREDICTED.

That a general reduction of wages in all the great railways and industries is absolutely necessary, was the assertion made in Pittsburg, Pa., by Henry Clews, the New York banker, in an address before the Pittsburg Chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

"A great difficulty the railways and other large employers of labor now have to contend with," he said, "is the refusal or unwillingness of the labor unions to consent to a reduction of wages to meet reduced earnings.

"A lowering of wages has become absolutely necessary, for they are still at the high figures to which they were pushed during the long period of prosperity. The labor unions should recognize this at once and reduce their wage scales, and not wait until they are forced to yield. It is one of the great remedies that the situation now calls for.

"Workmen should not forget that half a loaf is better than no bread, and by accepting reduced wages they are paving the way to better times for themselves as well as for the country.

"Then, too, they owe a duty to society at large; no one should be governed by the narrow, selfish policy of living for himself alone. This is a world in which we must give and take, and labor and capital have mutual interests."

The Legislature.

SENATE.

The senate yesterday took up the house resolution which provides for an extension of the session of the general assembly from sixty to ninety days. The amendment to the constitution is demanded on the ground that sixty-day terms are inadequate to the transaction of the business of the State.

The resolution was agreed to and will be certified to the next general assembly, and if approved by that body will be submitted to the voters of the State for their approval, and if ratified by them sessions after 1910 will begin in January and will last for ninety days.

The senate also took up the house resolution which seeks to amend the constitution relative to the manner and requirement in the reading of bills on three separate days and compelling numerous roll calls. The second resolution will take the same course as that of the one touching the ninety-day session. The resolution was concurred in by the senate

The senate rejected a resolution requesting Virginia's representative in Congress to advocate return to each State not exceeding $5,000, moneys collected from internal revenue, said fund to be used for pensioning soldiers and firemen who may be disabled in the discharge of their duties.

House bill 37 to authorize any railroad, with the consent of the corporation commission, to contract, purchase or take a lease of any railroad not exceeding twenty-five miles in length, which will furnish a cut-off or connecting line for the more efficient and economical transportation of traffic, was taken up.

The bill had passed the house, and the senate committee reported the bill with the recommendation that it do not pass. The matter went over.

The Senate took up the Byrd liquor bill which came up as the special order, and the offering of amendments was at once begun.

Senator Echols, of Staunton, moved to reconsider the vote by which the amendment of yesterday was adopted and which allowed a maximum of 7 1-2 per cent. of alcohol in apple cider. The motion was adopted.

An agreement was reached which placed the maximum of alcohol at 6 per cent. in cider.

An amendment was offered placing a tax of $15 on persons who buy and sell cider, but releases makers of cider from apples grown on their premises from any tax. The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was under discussion when the Senate adjourned.

The House bill No. 37, which purports to authorize any railroad company, with the consent of the State Railroad Commission to construct, purchase or take a lease of any railroad not exceeding twenty-five miles in length, which will furnish a cut-off or connecting line for the more efficient and economical transportation of traffic came up. It was admitted by Senator Hart, who has charge of the bill, that the Norfolk and Western was alone interested in the measure, and that it was introduced for the purpose of enabling it to go ahead with its new line. The matter went over.

HOUSE.

The appropriations bill came up in the House for consideration, and was going through the process of consideration when the body arose. The patron of the bill, Mr. Bowman, chairman of the committee on finance, explained the various items as they were read by the clerk.

The House passed the tax commission bill, which now goes to the Senate. It provides for a legislative commission to investigate tax conditions in the State during vacation, and to report findings and recommendations to the next General Assembly.

Bills were passed:

To repeal an act to provide for the appointment of a police justice or police justices in the counties having a population of 50,000 or over.

Providing for the appropriation of the sum of $1,000 for the purpose of purchasing a marble bust of the late General Fitzhugh Lee, to be placed in the rotunda of the State Capitol.

THE RHEA CASE.

Henry C. Stuart, retiring corporation commissioner, to fill whose vacancy Judge Williiam F. Rhea, of Bristol, was named by the Governor, was about to be called to testify before the committee when attorneys for Judge Rhea had a talk with him. Mr. Stuart frankly told them the nature of the testimony he would give, and suggested that it might not be well for the defense to put him on the stand as on cross-examination testimony damaging to the defense might be elicited. The defense decided not to call Stuart.

Subsequently the attorneys for the prosecution got wind of the rumor and decided to call him. When Mr. Stuart was on the stand attorneys for the defense knew the nature of the testimony he would be compelled to give, and, so knowing, objected long and strenuously to his testimony getting before the committee. A joint session of the House and Senate will be held tonight to decide upon the confirmation of Judge Rhea.

In the Senate yesterday the bill to revise the criminal laws of the United States was passed.

The currency bill was made the unfinished business of the Senate.

The House in committee of the whole began the further consideration of the army appropriation bill.

Today's Telegraphic News.

Japan and China.

Pekin, Feb. 27.—Either Japan or China must "back down" or there are excellent propects of a clash over the latter country's recent seizure off Macao of the Japanese steamship Tatsu Maru on the ground that the craft was smuggling arms to Chinese revolutionists.

Diplomats here have anticipated for some time that the Mikado's threatening attitude would force China to yield, but the Chinese government has shown unexpected firmness in the matter. Foreigners agree China's attitute is unassailable and that its proof of the lawless character of the steamship's trade is overwhelming.

It is said a formal complaint is being formulated against the manner in which Japanese officials are crippling the Chinese postal service in Manchuria, and that charges will be made against them of delaying and even destroying mail. No one anticipates an improvement, but the government plainly looks for trouble and apparently wants a clean record if it comes.

Chinese business men say the half has not been told concerning the shocking condition of commercial affairs in Japan. Big failures and tremendous bank panics, it is asserted, are of constant occurrence in all the large cities. The Chinese government unquestionably counts on this situation as a strong element of its own strength.

War on Priests.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Charging that a plot to murder a Chicago priest at the altar of his church, just as Father Henrichs, of Denver, was slain Sunday, was frustrated almost by chance, Father Dunne, chancellor of the Archdiocese, will hold a conference today with Chief Shippey regarding arrests.

Father Dunne will also call upon United States District Attorney Sims and Col. James E. Stuart, chief of post-office inspectors, to prosecute the editors of Italian newspapers in which he claims denunciatory articles against the clergy of the city are published, Charges of criminal libel are likely to be brought, it is alleged.

The first information of the alleged assassination plans was given to Father Reneseullo, for a time Father Dunne's assistant at the Guardian Angel (Italian) church. He was told of plans to stab him to death in a letter. Thewriter's name is being kept secret by Father Dunne. Father Reneseullo has been given permission to carry a pistol until May 1.

The Kaiser's Health.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—Diplomats are accepting with very little question the semi-official statement given out with the chancellor's approval that the trip the Kaiser will make to Corfu March 21 is wholly for rest, that politics has nothing to do with it and that reports of a meeting between his Majesty and an extraordinary embassy from the Sultan is baseless. There is grave uneasiness, however, concerning the ruler's health. His Majesty's stay in England failed to benefit him much and that he must soon take another vacation is generally considered extremely alarming. The royal party will go by rail to Genoa, where it will take the imperial yacht Hohenzollern to Corfu. Prince Furnstenberg, the Kaiser's most trusted, though unofficial adviser, will probably go with him.

Work of Night Riders.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 27.—A band of night riders early this morning fired the residence of Bruce Gregory, a farmer living west of Hopkinsville. The building was burned to the ground and Gregory, his wife and baby barely escaped with their lives. The night riders shot into the house and the three had to crawl under beds to escape death. Mrs. Gregory telephoned an alarm to the city, notwithstanding the fact that she was fired on as she stood at the telephone and that one bullet passed near her head. Major Albrecht and a party of militia went in pursuit of the night riders. They have not yet returned. When the raiders had left Gregory and his family hastened from their home which was soon in ashes.

Sale of Newspapers.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 27.—Charles H. Grasty, president of the Evening News Publishing Company, announced this afternoon that the Baltimore News has been sold to Mr. Frank A. Munsey, of New York, proprietor of the Washington Times, Munsey's Magazines and other publications. Mr. Munsey will take formal charge of the property Monday. He will make no change in the policy of the paper. The deal for the sale of the newspaper was closed yesterday in New York. The purchase price is withheld.

Wants Jerome Removed.

Albany, N. Y. Feb. 29.—The removal of William Travis Jerome as district attorney of New York county, was asked today by William F. King, chairman of the committee of minority stockholders in the Metropolitan Street Company who filled with Gov. Hughes a printed brief of its charges. The request for removal is based upon Jerome's alleged failure to prosecute the traction cases after he had been elected on his promise to do so.

New York, Feb. 27.—The market ruled unexpectedly strong during the first hour, under the lead of Amalgamated, which was bought by brokers usually acting for Rogers and Rockfeller interests. Covering of shorts helped along an upward movement in the rest of the list and there was general improvement in the market tone. The volume continued small and trading was almost entirely professional. Nearly all advances were less than one point.

To Investigate Fight.

London, Feb. 27.—The king's bench has ordered an investigation of yesterday's fist fight in the court room between J. Roskill and Edmund F. Francis Veurey Knox, both king's counsel and barristers of national reputation. The two had been debating the amalgamation of the Great Northern and Great Central Railways and were returning to their places after luncheon when Knox referred to Roskill as "insolent cur." Roskill instantly grappled with him and the combatants were struggling about the court room when Solicitor-General Sir Samuel Evans and Sir Robert Finlay dragged them apart just before the lord chief justice entered.

Result of Freshet.

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—More than six thousand mill employes are out of work, while every mill on the banks of the Schuylkill river at Manuyunk and Schuylkill Falls is closed today as a result of the freshet. Families of employes occupying cottages on the river have also been compelled to flee to higher ground. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

The Kilrain-Lauterbach Fight.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 27.—In the main bout before the Nonpareil Athletic Club last night, Cecil Kilrain, son of Jake Kilrain, the famous heavy weight, knocked out "Con" Lauterbach in the thirteenth round of what was to have been 15 rounds. The bout was remarkably fast throughout, young Kilrain displaying rare form.

Haiti's Diplomatic Dispute.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Feb. 27.—President Nord Alexis is understood in diplomatic circles here to have put his dispute with the French, German, English and Spanish consuls "up to Washington," and to be awaiting advices from there before determining on a course of action concerning the fugitive revolutionists to whom the consulates have given shelter.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Feb. 27.

SENATE.

Mr. Fulton interrupted the routine proceedings of the Senate this afternoon to urge the committee on interstate commerce to give consideration to his bill, providing for a temporary stay in the putting into effect of an increased railway tariff or schedule, where the shipper had filed a protest. He said it had gone to the committee December 4th. Acting Chairman Cullom announced that the committee had been ready to report but deferred action pending a hearing asked for by opponents of the measure.

Senator Gallinger made an ineffectual attempt this afternoon to have a vote taken on the mail subsidy bill on Monday next. Upon request of Mr. Culberson, the minority leader, it was agreed that the measure be taken up March 9th, in order to give time for minority senators to confer relative to it.

Fuguratively speaking, tomahawks were drawn in the Senate this afternoon when Senator Curtis (Kas.) of the Kaw tribe of Indiana and Senator Owen (Okla.), of the Cherokees became involved in a stirring debate over the Indian appropriation bill. Mr. Gore, Owen's blind colleague, raised a shout when he suggested that the Senate should recognized the belligeren rights of these two Indians.

HOUSE.

A contest between committees came up in the House today when the committee on the assignment of offices wanted to move the ways and means committee out of its quarters so that Speaker Cannon can have better quarters. Mr. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee, refused to give up his room on account of rheumatism and the matter was fought out on the floor, Mr. Mann, daring to cross the republican leader. For the first time in his life, Payne appeared on the floor on crutches.

With a family fuss on in the House over the desire to give the Speaker more office room, Mr. Champ Clark prevented a threatened personal clash by a characteristic humorous speech.

"They say the Speaker needs two rooms," exclaimed Mr. Clark. "I'd be willing to take the job with one room."

Mr. Clark finally suggested that the architect who planned the Capitol ought to be dug up and hanged.

THAW AND HIS WIFE.

Conflicting rumors were in circulation in New York yesterday as to the plans of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. It was said that she had stored her furniture and closed up her home on Park avenue and intended moving to Matteawan.

According to advices from Matteawan, Mrs. Thaw declared after she visited her husband the last time, thirteen days ago, that she was afraid of him, and the opinion in the village is that she will not return. It is said that a person connected with the insane hospital overheard Harry K. Thaw upbraid his wife at their last meeting there, and conclude with the ejaculation:

"Get to hell out of here, and don't come back."

It is said that this is what caused Mrs. Thaw to express fear of her husband.

NEGRO BISHOPS COMPLAIN.

Five bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church have joined in a complaint to the Interstate Commerce Commission of unjust, discriminatory and unlawful treatment at the hands of several Interstate railroad companies of the South.

Their complaint was directed against the Seaboard Air Line Railway, the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railway, the Southern Railway, the Central of Georgia Railway and the Pullman Company.

JUDGE BLACKSTONE.

The House committee on courts of justice has appointed a subcommittee to draft the report of the committee of the investigation of charges against Judge J. W. G. Blackstone, of the Eleventh judicial circuit. The report, it is declared, will sustain the charges of immorality. The report of the committee will be made to the House tomorrow. The other charges will be dismissed and the followers of Judge Blackstone hope for a division in the committee.

ROY'S CONFESSION.

Paul Roy gave out a statement from his father's home at Neuilly, France, yesterday. Roy says he was married to Miss Carkins in Boston October 7, 1907. After the marriage, at which there were no witnesses, the couple went to Newington, N. H., and lived in the country house of his wife. After visiting relatives on January 2, Roy and his wife returned home and had dinner with Mrs. Roy's brother, George A. Carkins.

"After dinner we planned to go over to Greenland to attend a concert," Roy goes on to say. "My wife left the room to dress herself, returning shortly in a beautiful costume and wearing a large hat. I told her the hat was too large for comfort in an automobile, but this comment she answered rudely, saying she intended to please her brother and not me. I said to her. 'Then I won't go with you.'

"Thinking my wife would repent, I waited a quarter of an hour. I then walked through to the kitchen, where I found my wife and Mr. Carkins in excited conversation. Suddenly Carkins launched a gross epithet at me in English and I replied in French.

"Repeat that in English, if you dare, cried my wife.

"I repeated my statement in English, whereupon Carkins opened fire on me. I drew out my revolver in self-defense. We both emptied our weapons. Unfortunately I hit him at the first shot. Carkins staggered toward the door, murmuring, 'I am dying.'

"I rushed out to secure help and returned with relatives. Carkins was dead. We all agreed to say that it was a case of suicide."

Mrs. Paul L. Roy, or Miss Gladis Calla, as she prefers to be known, left New York for Portsmouth, N. H., last night, putting in a busy day with newspaper reporters telling the story of how her brother, George A. Carkins, was shot to death in Portsmouth on the night of January 2 by her French husband.

"The whole story," as she called it, was told by the beautiful opera singer, who in the tragic role of a deserted bride denouncing her husband as the murderer of her brother, has excited interest on two continents.

Her success in Paris, her marriage to Paul Roy in Boston, the quarrel at the New Hampshire summer home, followed by a duel; her flight in the night to her mother's home and the 10 agonizing hours she spent beside the corps, while the recital of suicide was being decided upon, were given by the woman with all the dramatic art of which she is possessed. She agreed to shield her husband, she explained, because—"Oh, when you love a man so." Now that the husband has left her and denied the legality of their marriage, and has even asserted that she is several years past her admitted age, the singer says that she has had time to realize "the horror of it all," and will "never let up until I drive him to the electric chair."

LETTER TO PETER LAWRENCE

Alexandria, Virginia.

Dear Sir: The real test of a paint is how many square feet will a gallon of it cover? And all the paints swear they cover 300 square feet two coats. Mildly, they prevaricate.

L. H. Frechand; builder, 1108 Dupre St, New Orleans, covered 1 00 square feet with three gallons Devoe last year; and paints all his jobs Devoe. That's how the tale gets to us.

He doesn't say whether one or two coats; if one, there's nothing wonderful in it; if two, they must have very small feet in New Orleans.

Devoe doesn't stop at 300 feet; but over 600! Most paints, we suppose, can be stretched to 30) feet, but they're mighty thin; they cover well 150 to 200.

When N. R. Watkins, Lott, Texas, painted his house before, it took 13 gallons; Devoe 7 gallons. That shows the strength of the paints.

W. B. McCluney painted a house in Crystal Springs, Miss, to test two pure paints; one coat 6 gallons Devoe; the other coat 10 gallons of a New Orleans paint. That shows the strength of the paints.

Surfaces differ; one takes more, another takes less. Devoe covers more than any other paint; two to one in the case of half the paints. But how many it covers, we don't know till we see the surface.

Yours truly,

F W DEVOE & Co.

SENT ON TO GRAND JURY.

Edward Drowns, Harry Hicks, and Wilbert Cook were brought before Justice Thompson in the Police Court at 10 o'clock this morning to answer a charge of holding up and shooting T. J. Schneider on Shooter's Hill on the night of the 11th instant. Mr. S. G. Brent, Commonwealth's Attorney, conducted the prosecution, and Mr. John M. Johnson was counsel for Cook and Hicks.

Schneider was called upon to make a statement. He described his movements preceeding the shooting; said he had been in this city during the day; saw three men at the overhead bridge near the union passenger station while he was on his way home between 7 and 8 o'clock; saw the men follow him and later two of the men passed him; the other loitered behind; when opposite the Golf Club house they passed across the road in front of Schneider's horse; he saw one of the men give his companion something; two shots were fired almost together, one of which entered his breast. Schneider positively identified the young men in the dock as his assailants, and he said Drowns shot him. He also said he had seen the three men together during the afternoon.

Dr. Moore, who rendered surgical assistance to Schneider after he was shot, explained the nature of the wound to the court.

A number of witnesses were subsequently put upon the stand. It was shown that the prisoners had been at Frank Parker's shop, a short distance east of the union passenger station, during the night, and it was also shown that Cook about 8 o'clock on the night of the shooting had returned a pistol he had bought from Parker.

J. E. Miller recognized the prisoners as the men he had seen on the road in the vicinity of the union station on the night of the shooting.

This evidence was corroborated by Robert Hohenstein.

The defense put witnesses on the stand in rebuttal of all this. Some testified that Cook was at work at the Portner Brewery until 5 o'clock on the day of the shooting.

Cook later took the stand and said he worked at the brewery that day; that he went to Parker's place that night and remained there with Hicks and Drowns until 10:30 o'clock.

Hicks subsequently took the stand and testified substantially as had Cook.

Drowns was the last to take the stand. He startled the court by going into the details of the shooting. He said substantially that he, Hicks and Cook met at Parker's and determined to go up Shooter's Hill road and hold somebody up—it made no difference who. Cook, he said, gave a pistol to Hicks. The trio accosted Schneider and held him up. Two shots were fired, but Drowns denied having fired either. He said the trio later returned to Parker's shop, and two of them jumped over the back fence, while the other entered by a door.

The accused were sent on to the grand jury.

The examination of the case occupied about two hours, and a large number of spectators were present.

ELECTRICAL SIGNAL.

As stated in the Gazette of that day one of the new Electrical Indicator Signals, designed and patented by Mr. George W. Pettey, a well-known young resident of this city, was erected at the southwest corner of King and St. Asaph streets Tuesday, by permission of the Board of Fire Wardens. The device is designed to prevent collisions between fire apparatus and street cars and other vehicles, and it has been approved by the fire chiefs of many of the large cities of the country. The device is connected with the Columbia engine house in such a way that just as the apparatus leaves the house to respond to a fire alarm, a bell rings and a red paddle or semaphore arm drops at a right angle to the street, as a warning to cars and vehicles to keep out of the way, as the engine is coming. At night, in addition to the bell and paddle, red lights are shown as a further warning. The machine works automatically, is not easily disarranged and weather conditions have no effect upon it. The device will be given an extensive trial by the Fire Wardens. It is the only invention of its kind in the world. Mr. Pettey has been in communication with the fire chiefs of New York, Philadelphia, Denver, St. Louis, Allentown, Portland, Seattle, Washington, and other points regarding the installing of his patent in their cities where the lives of firemen have been lost in collisions between street cars and fire apparatus answering a call to duty. The working of the illuminated device was again tried Tuesday night, and the experiment was very successful. One of the chiefs who attended the last convention held in Washington, said, in his opinion it was the neatest and best device of the kind ever patented and was a valuable adjunct as a means of protection in times of fire.

ELKS' CARNIVAL.

Tonight ends the carnival of Alexandria Lodge of Elks which has been held at the Armory Hall for the last ten days. The committee in charge seem to be well satisfied as to results. A great deal of expense was incurred in the decoration of the building and booths and the novel ideas executed by those in charge have excited wonder. Without doubt the attendance has been the largest ever seen in this city for similar entertainments and no disturbance of any kind has been reported. The amusements furnished have been up-to-date and entertaining. The ladies connected with the carnival have been untiring in their efforts to make it a success and the great body of Elks has contributed of their means towards crowning their labors. But at 8 o'clock tonight the festivities will be brought to a close by auction of everything of a saleable nature left in the hall and the announcement of the winners of the prizes. Dancing will begin at 9. The entertainment furnished the children yesterday afternoon was much enjoyed by the hundreds who took advantage of this last opportunity. The committee was on hand distributing pennies to the little ones and they saw to it that no one was overlooked. Come tonight and purchase some of the handsome articles which will be placed under the hammer.

A number of young men who have been assisting at the carnival will parade the streets to night in fancy costumes and discourse sweet music as a means of drawing a crowd the last night. Mr. A. D. Montier will costume the participants.

CONTEST OVER LETTER BOX.

A contest has been in progress during the past week or two over the location of a letter box. The box had for a long time been in front of a store on the east side of Fairfax street, between Wolfe and Wilkes, but it had by an accident been broken down. When the box was again put in commission it was removed to the opposite side of the street, and this action precipitated an issue the end of which is not yet in sight. The gentleman instrumental in having the box placed on the west side of the street drew up a petition, which received many signatures, praying Postmaster Burroughs to let it remain there. The storekeeper, equally determined to have it returned to its former position in front of his store, drew up a counter position which many have also signed. The box was taken down this morning from its new position, but it has not yet known where it will be placed.

LYCEUM EUCHRE.

The Young Men's Sodality Lyceum will give its first progressive euchre of the season next Monday night at Lyceum Hall. Among the prizes will be a handsome enameled washstand donated by Mr. Joseph Gates and a handsome umbrella donated by Parker, Bridget and Company, of Washington, together with a number of other pretty and valuable prizes. The Lyceum euchres have always been looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure and judging from the large number of tickets already disposed of the affair will be well patronized.

LETTER OF THANKS.

Mr. D. J. Roberts, secretary of the Ramblers Club, has received a letter from Mr. Leo T. Doran, Troop F, 13th U. S. Cavalry stationed at Fort Myer, Va., expressing the thanks of his company at the treatment accorded them on the 22d of February while they were in the city.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. William B. Daingerfield and Mrs. T. Marshall Jones were the charming hostesses of the Senior Euchre Club, last night at the former's handsome residence on Washington street. At the close of the well contested games, and just before a dainty supper had been served, Miss M. McG. Ashby, Mrs. W. B. Smoot, Mr. Laurence Stabler and Mr. C. C. Leadbeater were awarded the very pretty prizes.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

The largest congregation that has thus far been in attendance upon the special services at the Washington Street M. E. Church South assembled last night to hear Rev. Vance Price who preached a most impressive sermon on "Justification by Faith." After the congregation was dismissed a large number of Christian people remained for a brief prayer service. The morning talks are proving to be very helpful to those who attend. Mr. Price will preach at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

CIVIL SERVICE.

A civil service examination under the rules of the U. S. Civil Service Commission for the position of store-keeper-gauger in the Sixth internal revenue district of Virginia will be held on the 18th of March next, commencing at 8 o'clock a. m. Applications will not be accepted unless received before 4:30 o'clock p. m. on the 14th proximo.

Neglected Colds Threaten Life.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

"Don't trifle with a cold,' is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child Proper food, good ventilation, and dry warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of a surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well-established ripe cold is the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of the year is the neglected cold." Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

The 47th Company Coast Artillery Corps will give their second hop at the fort gymnasium this Thursday evening. Trains will leave Prince and Royal streets at 8 p. m. Professor Padgett's orchestra has been engaged.

Chief Belt has reported to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia on the showing made by the Washington fire department in the parade in Alexandria last Saturday, giving a record of the apparatus used, and noting that the men in line were entitled to a day off, so that Washington was in no way subject to increased danger from insufficient fire forces.

Excitement at Manila.

Manila, Feb. 27.—Naval officers are very much excited over the order received here for the equipment of all ships at the Philippine station for protracted service, in other words, three months at sea. While the order is generally accepted as indicating no more than elaborate maneuvers with the fleet expected from the United States, it is recognized that it might also be significant of eventualities. In view of the recent Japanese-American war talk, every move which might mean something in this direction immediately becomes the subject of absorbing interest.

A Government to Kick About.

"We kick about our own government," said a reformer, "and it is doubtless pretty bad, but what would we think if it took the taxpayers' money to pay every year a pension of $50,000 to the Goulds, another of $75,000 to the Astors and another still of $25,000 to the Vanderbilts? That is what goes on in England. The English doctor, the English druggist, the English carpenter, all sorts of hardworking Englishmen, are taxed $200 or $300 a year, and the money goes to pay the huge pension of some ducal loafer who is already too rich. Charles II., for instance, granted an eternal pension of $95,000 a year to the Duke of Richmond and Gordon. In all the years since Charles II.'s time that pension has been paid out of the taxpayers' pockets. To this day it is paid. The present Duke of Richmond and Gordon settles for his dinners at the Ritz in London or at Ciro's in Monte Carlo with money earned by English butchers, bricklayers and blacksmiths."—Exchange.

The Lion's Mouth.

The use of the lion's mouth as the vent of a fountain is so common that it cannot be regarded as accidental. As a matter of fact, the custom (like so many customs—not forgetting the fountain pen) came from Egypt, which adopted it because the annual inundation of the Nile takes place when the sun is in the constellation Leo—the lion. The allusion is too obvious to need pointing out. The oldest fixed date (4241 B. C.) can be traced to Egypt, where the calendar was introduced in the middle of the forty-third century. And the history of modern shipbuilding began in Egypt, where it can be traced to about 3000 B. C. The most recent discoveries give to the land of Egypt a clean rug of about 11,000 years without any admixture of foreign races. "Egypt, land of hidden mysteries, great mother of science and art, what thinking mind has not dreamed of thee!"—New York Press.

Husband Would Settle.

From India comes a story of the discomfiture of a very distinguished soldier. It happened at a big dinner, where he had taken in a pretty American globe trotter, who asked him to pass a dish of almonds and raisins.

"With pleasure," replied the gallant son of Mars, "but do you know that what you have asked for is called in the vernacular kissmiss and that the penalty of a kiss attaches to the request?"

"Is that so?" answered the woman calmly. "I must consult my husband," and she called across the table to him and told him of the request.

"Quite so," he replied, "according to the custom of the country it is a just debt and must be paid, but is the general aware of the arrangement made when we married that I must settle all my wife's liabilities?"

Submerged Aristocrats.

Some curious letters are quoted by Mr. Percival Bickerstaffe the pedigree searcher, in an interview with a representative of the London Tribune. One runs:

"I am a plumber and gasfiter out of work. My stummick is empty, but in my art is the blud of noble burth. * * * I claim the family title and tenements which I will not be denyed the same."

A city clerk wrote:

"I have long suspected that I am of high birth. People tell me that I have manners above my station of life. My photograph herewith shows that I have an aristocratic cast of face and will perhaps be a clew to my ancestry. I do not ask for fortune, but I aspire to the pride of race."

Beans to Separate Bones.

Anatomists, when they wish to separate the bones of a skull, sometimes resort to a very peculiar procedure. They fill the skull with small beans and place it in a vessel of water. The beans swell and rend the skull apart at the sutures. The well known German physiologist, Grehaut, measured the force which the beans are capable of exerting under these conditions and found that it indicated five atmospheres, equal to the average pressure in the boiler of a steam engine.

Put on More Than the Saddle.

A cookery teacher was giving a lesson to a class of children and questioning them on the joints of mutton. The neck, shoulder, leg and loin had been mentioned.

"Now," said the teacher, "there is another joint no one has mentioned. Come, Mary, I know your father is a groom; what does he often put on a horse?"

"A dollar each way, miss," was the unexpected answer.—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

Not a Dog.

Old Lady (to chemist)—I want a box of canine pills. Chemist—What's the matter with the dog? Old Lady (indignantly)—I want you to understand, sir, that my husband is a gentleman. (In profound silence the chemist put up some quinine pills.)—London Queen.

His Name.

"Who is that long haired fellow?"

"Uriah Rembrandt Peiggs. He's making quite a name for himself."

"I should think he would. If my parents had given me a name like his I'd have started to make one for myself at once."

A Good Example.

Father—Why did you run away, Franz? Franz—Because mamma was so unkind. Father—That is no reason. Do I run away?—Wiener Caricaturen.

LOSS $510,000 A WEEK.

Cost of Municipal Ownership to English Wage Earners.

During the years 1901-05 the rate of wages paid in Great Britain declined to such an extent that at the end of that period the workers were getting $510,000 less a week than in 1900. The total loss in wages for the five years compared with the wage scale of 1900 was more than $100,000,000. The parliamentary report from which these figures are taken records a reaction during the first half of last year, but the increase is but a bagatelle compared with the enormous loss recorded above.

As England is the country where government and municipal ownership is most general, these figures show that public ownership does not raise wages in general, but raises the wages of the few at the expense of the many.

This tremendous reduction in wages is due largely to increased taxation caused by the losses of the government and municipal industries, for higher taxes mean higher rents and a general increase in the cost of production, which must be offset in some way if England is to maintain her trade in the face of the world's competition. The easiest way to economize is to cut wages, and so the wage earner has had to pay for municipal experiments both in lower wages and higher rents.

When the wage earner is asked to vote for municipal ownership he should bear in mind that at the same time he would vote for all that goes with it—higher living expenses and lower wages, perhaps no wages at all. Who benefits? The politician who gets a new popular issue, the politician's close friends who are put on municipal jobs and the large consumer who gets his service for less than cost. Where does the wage earner come in? He pays the bills.

Philadelphia's Waterworks.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger predicts a general shakeup in the water department as the result of a recent inspection of the pumping stations. It states that evidence of neglect and inefficiency was found on every hand. This is not surprising in view of the fact that some of the "engineers" in charge of pumping stations were originally appointed as coal heavers and owe to political influence their promotion to their present responsible positions. The officials admit that the condition is serious, as much of the machinery is so worn as to be incapable of performing anything like its full duty. It is also admitted that much of the material received for repairs, etc., is defective and not in accordance with specifications. This condition has been known to members of the council for years.

Unfair Distribution of Cost.

A special dispatch from Kirkwood, Mo., to the Chicago Tribune states that the municipal electric light plant of that city has proved a failure. The generating plant will be shut down, and electricity will be purchased from a private company at one-third of what it has cost the city to make it. The city will sell to its customers at a price high enough to enable it to light the streets without cost to the taxpayers. This is typical of municipal ownership inequity—to force the users of electricity to pay for all the street lighting, although they are not benefited any more than the citizens who use gas or oil.

Failure of Municipal Bakeries.

The failure of the municipal bakeries at Catania, Italy, is reported by Mr. Churchill, the British consul at Palermo. There was a $30,000 deficit in the balance sheet, and the request governing a loan of $80,000 was refused by a royal commission. In consequence the institution has been closed.—United States Consular Reports.

CAD FOR THE WAGE EARNERS.

Judge Grosscup Says Municipal Ownership Would Lower Wages.

Government control and operation would also be found, I think, to have a disadvantageous effect upon the special interest of the laboring man. Labor sometimes gets less than the enterprise employing can afford to pay, but labor never gets more, at least for any length of time, than the enterprise can afford to pay. Lowered efficiency therefore means lowered wages. And public ownership always has been and always will be on this account attended by lower wages. The men who are motormen on the municipal street railways of Glasgow, for instance, get a little less than 13 cents an hour; the motormen of Chicago get from 21 to 24 cents an hour. The locomotive engineer of a German government railroad gets $50 per month; the American locomotive engineer makes easily three times that much. And through the whole schedule of wages paid by public and by private enterprises the same difference runs.

But there is still another side to this objection, what may be called its personal side, the effect of public ownership on organized labor. Much as labor organizations have been abused here and there by opposing interests and much as here and there labor organizations have abused their privileges, it is in labor organizations that the laboring man finds and will continue to find the source of bettered conditions.

Asking for higher wages the one man is unheard. But the many speaking as one make themselves heard. So that the labor organization is the laborers' industrial protector.

But the many speaking as one must have some one to whom to speak, some concrete party with whom to deal. Under government ownership that party would be the whole public. Let not the ready sympathy of the people for alleviative measures such as factory legislation and the like be given too wide a significance, for even there the task was long and hard, nor the readiness of the public to side in at times of labor strikes with the employees. In those situations the public is an outside party, not the other party. Until in some public controlled enterprise there is a demand by the employee for higher wages or changed conditions, some demand that will directly cost the public something in dollars and cents, the laboring man is without proof that the public can be more easily reached than private enterprise.

Something in this line, however, we already know. Government servants, from the highest to the lowest, are the poorest paid people in America. Put, man for man, against corresponding grades in private enterprise, the president of the United States against the presidents of the great corporations, cabinet officers against the managers of corporation departments, postal clerks on the railways against express clerks, laborers against laborers, the advantage in every case is with the employee of the private enterprise. And this we know, too—that, though the matter has often been urged, the people at large will not listen to any proposition for increase of pay in the government service. Given then a private employer or the public as employer with whom to deal, the one a thousand times more accessible and infinitely prompter to reach results than the other, to my mind nothing is clearer than that employment by the public would be followed by a severe impairment of the influence and efficiency of the labor organization and of the good it has done for its membership.—Hon. Peter S. Grosscup in American Magazine.

The soothing spray of Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, used in an atomizer, is an unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foul discharge is dislodged and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks. Liquid Cream Balm contains all the healing, purifying elements of the solid form, and it never fails to satisfy. Sold by all druggists for 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.
